

The Kitchen Helper

A Thanksgiving story for ages 2 to 4 · read it, print it, keep it

Free printable from DandyTale · dandytale.com

Captain Fox wore his cozy scarf proudly. His tiny crown sat just right. He had cute antennae and long whiskers. His sky-blue fur had star-shaped spots.

Today was Thanksgiving in the kitchen. Mama Bear was making a big pie. Papa Bear stirred something in a pot. The kitchen smelled so good!

Captain Fox wanted to help. He felt so grateful and happy. But he was very, very small. His paws could barely reach the table.

"I'm too little," said Captain Fox sadly. "I can't help at all."

Mama Bear bent down with a smile. "Everyone can help," she said kindly. "In their own way."

Papa Bear nodded and pointed. "See those shiny rocks by the window?"

Captain Fox loved collecting shiny rocks! His eyes grew big and bright. He hopped over fast.

There were rocks of every color. Some sparkled in the sunlight. Captain Fox looked very carefully. He picked up one smooth, round rock. It gleamed like starlight!

"This one!" he said. "It's so special!"

Mama Bear gasped. "It's perfect for the center of our table!"

Captain Fox placed his rock right in the middle. Everyone gathered around. The rock caught the light and shined beautifully.

"Captain Fox helped make our table magic," said Papa Bear.

Captain Fox's heart felt warm and full. He wasn't too little after all. His special rock made Thanksgiving perfect.

Everyone can help. In their own special way.

I am thankful for...

Draw something that makes you feel warm and happy, like Captain Fox's shiny rock.

Make a brand-new Thanksgiving story for your family at dandytale.com · stories and pictures made with AI

Enjoyed this story? A fair and honest review helps other parents:
trustpilot.com/evaluate/dandytale.com